The council considered informally the question of granting the permit at a meeting of the committee of the whole Wednesday, and the sentiment at that time was in favor of the proposition, as the proposed changes will make the building fireproof to a certain extent and put it in far better condition than it is at present.

A PLANT KILLS CATERPILLARS

Seeds Fall on the Worm's Fuzzy Back and Germinate

From the Johannesburg Evening Chronicle, Transvaal, South Africa. Nature is a curious force. There is a caterpillar in Australia. It looks for food under leaves and twigs in the usual way. As it searches, a parasite specially equipped by nature for the purpose, drops on its neck and fastens itself there.

In a week or two this little parasite need begins to germinate, drawing its nourishment from the very life blood of the insect. The latter feeling sick buries itself about two inches into the ground.

Eventually a pale green stalk about 12 inches high, at the summit of which is a most extraordinary flower somewhat resembling the top of a butternut when in seed, appears.

The poor caterpillar's refuge in the ground is of no avail, for its whole interior has to make room for a mass of roots. Sucked as dry as a bone, it is actually converted into a stick of wood.

JUST SIT ON THE FLOOR

A Boston Doctor Finds a Panacea for Ills of Middle Age

From the New York Tribune.

BOSTON.—Dr. E. H. Bradford, before the Harvard Medical school, spoke hope to the middle aged who are phlegmatic, dyspeptic and are suffering from increased weight and decreased circulation, whose only relaxation staking a golf ball or the hygienic "constitutional." All one needs to do is to forswear chairs and sit on the floor.

"If lifting 180 more or less pounds from the floor every time you want may isn't exercise enough to cure what ails you, your case is hopeless," said Dr. Bradford. "Sitting on the floor will prevent hollowing of the back, roundness of the shoulders and lateral curvature of the spine if started early enough. It may incapacitate you from work, your muscles not being adapted to that form of exercise, but have your children do it anyway. sitting on the ground is good for mental savages. It will be better for the inhabitants of the nursery than sitting on badly designed chairs."

COLORED WIGS IN GRAND OPERA

From the New York Telegram.

At last colored wigs have been introduced into grand opera, the first being worn by Mme. Alda, while playing the role of the Venetian courtesan, Giulietta, in "The Tales of Hoffmann."

At first the tinted hair could scarcely be distinguished from the Italian moonlight in the second act, but later it was seen the prima donna really wore a wig of a soft, pretty blinding light blue. There was great enthusiasm expressed by the audience, but a new era in grand opera had dawned.

Miss Culp Delights in American Slang

Some Dinner! Exclaims Singer With Smile

Dutch Artists Praises New Found Composer; Will Not Enter Opera

Famous singers are sometimes disappointing to meet; they sing so much better than they talk. Julia Culp, the Dutch singer, sat in her apartment at the Antlers early last night and told something of herself and her impressions of America—talked so naturally and pleasantly that in a very few minutes anyone would feel as if he had known her a long time. She is frank, sympathetic and brilliant, all in an instant she inspires affection.

Miss Culp is struggling with American slang. Although her conception of slang in general is naturally proper, she has caught some of the American inflections and she can say "believe me" with as much gusto as if the expression were habitual with her.

Or as might be said, some singers. "I think this slang is beautiful," she said. "Listen to me; that was some singer! How is that? Now I say I have come west for so, a concert, and that is not slang, is it? The difference is the way I say it, is that right?"

The conversation turned to music and Miss Culp was on ground that is absolutely firm for her. "I love to sing in English," she said. "The language is not harsh, as some say but it is soft and sweet and you can make it so gentle when you sing. It is like the Italian. I do not say it to be polite. I am straight in what I say. If I did not love your language I could say so. If I did not like it I could say nothing. But, indeed, I think the vowels and consonants can be sung so soft and lovely—it is wonderful."

Discovers American Composer. "And I found a wonderful American composer that ranks among the best of the modern European composers. He is John Alden Carpenter, a young Chicago banker, who writes wonderful, wonderful music."

"Six weeks ago I found his songs, and I can only say I am so very, very happy when I sing them. When I go back to Germany I shall sing them and they will like them because they will understand them. He has written such beautiful, such beautiful music to four poems, and I actually love them."

"And I love to sing them because they are in English, and I don't think it is polite to sing altogether in a foreign tongue when I am in America. America can be proud of the Carpenter songs, because they are among the best and they are so new and surprising. Carpenter is a wonderful composer, and he is, they say, very young."

MISS JULIA CULP

young. The four are 'Go, Lovely Rose,' 'The Cock Shall Crow,' 'My Child,' and 'The Sleep That Flits on Baby's Eyes.' The words are by the East Indian poet, Rabindranath Tagore."

Miss Culp was asked why she had never gone into opera.

"Too much jealousy in opera," she replied. "They fight too much there. They should love each other, but they don't, and I couldn't bear it. I shall never sing in opera. But it is not polite to say it. I am so happy when I can sing only in concert."

"Do you know," she continued, "that I find the same spirit here that is in Europe when I sing. Indeed, I do. In Boston, particularly, such an audience and such a place is Jordan Hall! You can't help but sing. And the friends I have in America—I cannot bear to make more. If I had more I could not love them all, for I have not that much love. In parting it would tear my heart to leave them. I could not love those I have so much if I had more to love."

AUTO RACE ACROSS COLORADO ASSURED

G. B. Merrill Made Manager 24-Hour 4-Durance Run Through C. S.

Constructive work on arrangements for the "Cross-Colorado" 24 Hours road race was started yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the special committee from the Colorado Automobile High way association, of which A. W. Mark sheffel is chairman.

The meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and the appointment of a local advisory committee was authorized whose work it will be to arouse interest in the project in this city. The members of this committee will be named soon by Chairman Marksheffel. Letters from the several counties through which the race will pass were read at yesterday's meeting and all agreed to look forward to the event with much interest. Letters will be written at once by the committee to the county commissioners of all the Pike's Peak route counties requesting permission to run the race over the roads of the counties.

The race is now a sure thing and plans will soon be started to secure entrants from this and the surrounding states. G. B. Merrill who originated the idea of holding the race, was made manager of the event at the meeting yesterday. He will soon make a trip south through Texas on business and intends at that time to do as much as possible in the way of arousing interest in the race among the people of that state. He hopes to get some machines from that vicinity to enter the race.

DIRECT INFORMATION TO BE FILED AGAINST SNELL

Youth Held for Shooting Father to Be Charged With Serious Offense by Purcell

A direct information, charging assault with intent to kill, will be filed against Louis Snell in the district court probably this morning. District Attorney M. W. Purcell prepared the complaint yesterday. Snell, who is 19 years old, shot his father, George Snell, 829 North Pine street in the hand, Thursday night, when he reprimanded his young daughter. The boy was taken to the city jail.

"The case is a very important one because it is the outgrowth of a condition which is rapidly becoming more and more common," said Mr. Purcell last night. "From all outward appearances this boy has reached the age when he believes he knows more than his father and he has taken it upon himself to manage the household. He is but one of ten who try the same thing. This case, however, is more radical than the most, for that the boy took far more serious means to accomplish his purpose."

"His case should prove an example to the scores of other young fellows who think themselves just a little better than their elders and especially their parents."

TWO SUGGESTIONS MADE FOR CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

One-Day Plan Similar to Last Year, or permanent Work, Are Outlined by Chamber of Commerce

The question of an annual "Clean-up" day for Colorado Springs, similar to the "children's crusade" held last year was considered yesterday afternoon at a meeting between the municipal affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Commissioner of Public Works and Properties A. I. Lawton. Two ideas were advanced: one favoring a single day similar to the held last year and the other favoring a comprehensive plan for permanent work along the lines of cleaning up. The latter plan would mean every day a cleanup day. After considerable discussion the question was referred to D. S. Gilmore of the chamber of commerce and Mr. Lawton for further consideration. They will report their decision to the committee at a meeting to be held soon.

We've Kept Adding to Our Millinery Showing And Now We Are Ready for Easter

—Picturesque styles are much in evidence a great diversity of shapes and colors. Our Ready Trimmed Hat showing is all new—the bulk of them having just been finished in our own workrooms, made up of shapes and trimming materials recently sent us from New York.

—In trimmings, ribbons are in tremendous popularity, with flowers and floral effects used in many cases with them. Novelty sailors are exceedingly stylish—others in Leghorn, Watteau, Shepherdess, Turban and Directoire Bonnet shapes. —And while our millinery section is splendidly stocked with these trimmed, ready-for-service hats, we wish to call your attention to our special order facilities. We maintain the largest corps of milliners in the city and can turn your ideas into a hat that you will like—and promptly. Many of our handsomest hat shapes are yet untrimmed and can be made for you individually. Whatever the color you want, or black, you will find among them.

A New Coat These Easy Fitting Models Are Ready to Wear Right Out

—If you want a new Coat for Sunday you will find that you can put many of these new ones on and wear them right out so simple are the styles though the new cuts give them the air of novelty and differentness making a new coat a necessity to the correctly attired woman.

—The very different idea of the season in separate Coats is the flare effect. First conceived as a necessity with certain skirt tendencies, but developing into the popular cut of the season. Our line comprises black and white checks, rough mixtures, novelty checks, etc., mostly in rough and ratine or sponge weaves. Prices range from $10 to $22.75.

New Silks Including Some Very Special Values at $1.50 a Yard

—At this price we show a very extensive line of the popular silks in wide widths canton crepes, moires and poplins—staple and the new colors and black. To add interest, for today we will include with them at $1.50 a yard, all of the following new weaves:

- $1.75 Crinkle Crepes, full line of colors, 40-inch.
 - $2 Printed Charmeuse and Foulards, 40-inch.
 - $2 to $2.50 Crepes, Charmeuse, brocades, 40-inch.
 - $3 Imported Silk Crepes, good shades, 40-inch.
 - $2 Satin Charmeuse, in light colors, 40-inch.
 - $2.75 Silk Matalasses, neat designs, 36-inch.
- This lot of $1.50 Silks includes about 2,000 yards of new and stylish silks.

Women's Stockings for Spring and Summer

Fine weave Silk Lisle Stockings, not sheer for spring wear, high spliced heels, double soles. Toes woven of special durable yarns. Colors are black, white and tan, 3 pair for $1.00. Pure thread Silk Stockings at 50c a pair. Fine gauze, pure thread silk boot, with lisle top and foot, heels high spliced with silk, double toes and heels. "Lily of France" Silk Hose. A very fine, heavy silk stocking, with high spliced heels, double soles and toes. An excellent value at $1.25 pair.

COMMISSIONERS ASK THAT DEPUTY HOBBS BE RETAINED

Pass Resolution, Then Elect Official a Constable in Justice Department's Court

Immediately after passing a resolution asking Sheriff, George R. VAN BRIGGLE GETS LARGE ORDER FOR NEW TILING

A large order for "Colorado Red" a new tile was received at the Van Briggles pottery yesterday. R. DeP. Curtis, manager of the pottery, has been preparing to manufacture this new product for some time and the tile is considered as the starting basis for a new industry in Colorado Springs. This is one of the first steps made by the company to branch out into commercial manufacture rather than art production. Great deposits of raw material with which this tile is made exist in this vicinity.

Midwest Aiming at Yearly Capacity of 4,500,000 Barrels

The new Midwest Refining company intends to build up its market for oil until it has an output of 4,500,000 barrels annually, according to President O. H. Shoup, who has just returned to this city from a business trip to New York and other eastern points. Mr. Shoup's trip east was to extend Midwest markets.

Contracts were placed with the Standard Oil company of Indiana, whereby half the additional output desired by the new Midwest company will be cared for. The company hereafter will be able to operate at the rate of from 2,500,000 to 4,000,000 barrels annually. Contracts for an additional 500,000 barrels will be closed as soon as possible.

"Business conditions of the country are not so good as anticipated," Mr. Shoup said yesterday. "The market for oil is not good. It is a 20 per cent increase in general business in the United States were possible, the oil market would be greater than all the companies could handle."

Because of a ruling which requires that a company be incorporated 90 days before making application, the new Midwest Refining company has not yet been listed on the New York curb or exchange.

Most Skin Trouble Readily Overcome

The Active Principle of a Famous Remedy Works Wonders.

Many people have marveled the way P. S. S. overcomes skin troubles. The explanation is the fact that P. S. S. works in the blood and the blood is really a most intricate and extraordinary mass of arteries and veins. When you come to realize that the skin and the flesh beneath are composed of a network of this blood vessels you solve the mystery. There are wonderful medicinal properties in P. S. S. that follow the course of the blood stream just as naturally as the most nourishing food currents. It is really a remarkable remedy. It contains one ingredient the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment. And the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food. Not one drop of minerals or drugs is used in its preparation. Ask for P. S. S. and just insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice and counsel upon any matter concerning the blood and skin, write to the Medical Department, The Swift Specific Co., 529 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some sneaky clerk to sell you over something that is good as P. S. S. is to you with the same old material drugs. Beware of all substitutes. Insist upon P. S. S.

VILLA'S LATEST VICTORY

VILLA has again beaten the federal troops and pushed his army a step nearer the goal Mexico City. The fact is all the more striking since in hesitating so long after his victory at Ojinaga he was presumed to have given the federals an opportunity to strengthen their defenses and greatly increase their chances of resistance. If Villa could have continued south after winning the previous battle he probably would be in possession of the capital today, but the resources of armies in Mexico are decidedly limited and it was necessary to wait while and plunder the surrounding country to secure food and munitions. Meanwhile, the federal forces at Torreon and Gomez Palacio were strengthened by reinforcements from Mexico City, until the outcome of the engagement became decidedly doubtful.

Apparently Huerta has no commander capable of opposing the bandit leader effectively. His absurd boast that he could if necessary place 100,000 men in the field was, of course, mere buncombe. He has barely enough men to guard the capital and not enough to risk a decisive engagement with the rebels. Under these conditions the probability is that Villa will advance on Torreon to repeat his triumph of the last four days, and from there conduct successful operations against Mexico City.

And what then? President Wilson has said that he would recognize either Villa or Carranza as president in the event that one or the other succeeds in dislodging Huerta. Villa seemingly defers to his nominal leader whom he addresses as "chief of the revolution." If Carranza becomes president, and is recognized as such by the United States, will he be any better than Huerta? And on moral grounds will his title be any clearer than Huerta's is now? In launching his Mexican policy a year ago Mr. Wilson declared that he would not recognize a government "founded on force." Is it possible to conceive of a government by Carranza as founded on anything else but force? or, for that matter, is it possible to conceive of any government being established and maintained in Mexico by any other means?

With a little more common sense and a little less sentimentality the "watchful waiting" policy might have proved effective. As it stands it is a pitiful fiasco.

BRYAN'S FUTURE

EVER since Mr. Bryan entered the Cabinet more than a year ago speculation concerning his future has been rife. In the first place, why did he accept the post, and what effect would his service there have on his subsequent career? Would it eliminate him as a presidential probability of the future, or would it strengthen his chances? for there is no reason to suppose that Mr. Bryan is less ambitious to live in the White House than he used to be. Would he serve his chief with loyalty and sympathy, or would he resign when something went wrong and use the circumstance to his own advantage?

The most obvious supposition was that Bryan had accepted the State portfolio merely to show that he was big enough to get it, but that he would not remain long. To continue throughout the term would be to identify himself absolutely with the administration and become the defender of its policies. This, of course, would debar him from being a candidate for the nomination against Mr. Wilson in 1916 on any issue involving the success of the administration. It would be shrewd politics whether creditable or not is another matter to wait until Mr. Wilson made a blunder or did something unpopular, then resign from the Cabinet and allow the impression to go out that he had broken with the President on a matter of principle. He could then begin to rally his forces for the campaign in 1916.

But nothing of the sort has happened. And there is nothing on the horizon to indicate that anything of the sort will happen. Apparently the President and his premier are in perfect accord. Each gives out statements extolling the noble attributes of the other, as if the public knows not a question very often concerning which there has been the greatest difference of opinion between them.

Mr. Bryan's diplomacy is a subject for mirth or indignation depending on the mood of the observer. It reflects no credit on the administration; on the contrary, it has done more to weaken it than all other influences combined. That Mr. Wilson should have won such extraordinary prestige in the brief space of a year is a testimonial to his own ability; he has done it despite Bryan rather than with his aid. But it is plain nevertheless that the alliance will continue, and Bryan as a possible rival for the nomination two years hence is virtually eliminated.

AUTOMOBILE EXPORTS AND IMPORTS

WHATEVER may be the condition of American manufactures and exports in other lines, the automobile trade marches steadily forward to new conquests. A report issued yesterday by the Department of Commerce shows that exports of American motor cars are constantly increasing while the imports of European cars are continually falling off. The value of the American cars sold abroad has reached $35,000,000 a year, and there is every indication that the trade will continue to grow as rapidly for several years to come.

But remembering all that has been said of the rapid growth of this industry, it is a little surprising to learn that France still leads the world in exportation of automobiles, although the United States has made the greatest gain. The report shows that from 1908 to 1913 French exports of automobiles increased from $25,000,000 to $44,000,000. In the same period American exports jumped from $5,000,000 to $35,000,000, those of Germany from $3,000,000 to $20,000,000, and of England from $8,000,000 to $14,000,000. At this rate of gain it will not be long until America will be ahead of even France, where the automobile industry originated.

There is a marked contrast between the average value of the automobiles imported into and exported from this country. Those imported last January were valued at about $3,400 each, exclusive of transportation charges and duties collected. The average value of the American cars shipped abroad was only $900. And herein lies the secret of American success in capturing the world markets. European makers seemingly do not know how to turn out good serviceable cars at low or medium prices. If it were not for the American manufacturer the automobile would be beyond the reach of any except millionaires, either here or abroad. And since there is in Europe, just as there is in this country, a large class of people of moderate means who are able to buy low-priced cars, American manufacturers are assured a continuing foreign market for their product.

FROM OTHER PLEAS

CONSIDERABLE TESTIMONIAL
From the Prophetstown (Ill.) Echo
What has been said of Miss Graham will hold good with Mr. Chapin in every respect. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Chapin and a young man who is highly respected, industrious, and a man who will respect the rights of the lady of his choice, and we doubt not will not consider the marriage vows lightly and only as a means to an end to be broken at will or as one may feel inclined. Mr. Chapin has the reputation of being honorable and just.

TOLLS ON WAR VESSELS.
From the Pittsburgh Dispatch
A somewhat hasty view of a not especially vital topic is indicated by the following paragraph from the New York World.
"United States naval vessels pay tolls to go through the Panama canal? Did the jingoes suppose people were foolish enough to believe that Uncle Sam, the owner of both canal and ships, would pay toll to himself? Chairman Adamson is right in calling this particular lie 'concentrated nonsense.'"
How would it hurt the United States to have the war vessels going through the canal pay checks for their tolls? That the natural result would be for the checks to go back to the treasury is the outcome of the fact that the canal was built by the government. But the amount of work that the payment would impose, or the inconvenience if money was paid, would be very slight.
What would be the gain in it? In the first place it would be a formal recognition of the principle laid down in the treaty, that United States vessels of war are subject to the same requirements as the vessels of war of other nations. Next it would make the receipts from the canal show a total representing all the vessels that pass through the canal, not a partial one. Say the owner of a large store had a family that was one of its chief customers. It would not give a businesslike management of the store to let the family take whatever it wanted without any record. The store's accounts should show whatever the family took which could be either paid for or charged to the owner so as to have an accurate showing of its profits or loss. Finally, as the navy takes tolls from the public, the extent of the "tollship" inflicted on the United States Express company by its liquidation is shown by the fact that the U. S. Express paid 50 points upon the other, as if the public knows not a question very often concerning which there has been the greatest difference of opinion between them.

Mr. Bryan's diplomacy is a subject for mirth or indignation depending on the mood of the observer. It reflects no credit on the administration; on the contrary, it has done more to weaken it than all other influences combined. That Mr. Wilson should have won such extraordinary prestige in the brief space of a year is a testimonial to his own ability; he has done it despite Bryan rather than with his aid. But it is plain nevertheless that the alliance will continue, and Bryan as a possible rival for the nomination two years hence is virtually eliminated.

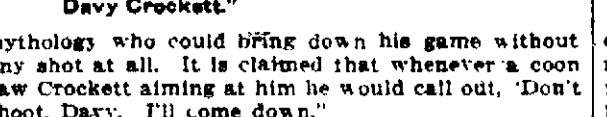

Powderous Personages

BY GEORGE FLETCHER
Author of "At Good Old Dave's"

DAVY CROCKETT

Davy Crockett was a 101 per cent American citizen, who lived, very informally, between the years 1780 and 1836.

In those days life in the western frontier of the United States was even more dangerous than it is during a hot political campaign today, said frontier being in Kentucky and Tennessee. Crockett was born in Kentucky and spent his youth roaming the region between the Ohio and the Gulf, talking politics, real estate and philosophy, and now and then shooting at something with his long barreled rifle. Crockett never shot more than once at anything, being a careful soul and not fond of wasting powder. Once was always enough. In fact, he was so dead a shot that he is the only man recorded in history or mythology who could bring down his game without any shot at all. It is claimed that whenever a coon saw Crockett aiming at him he would call out, "Don't shoot, Davy. I'll come down."

Just at present a large number of trusts seem to be mistaking Woodrow Wilson for Davy Crockett. Crockett wore a coonskin cap with a tail to it and deerkin pants and moccasins. But when he went to congress for Tennessee he put on the wide felt hat of civilization and became noted for his humor and good sense. When Tennessee became too tame for him he went to Texas, which was suffering from Mexicanitis in its worst form, and helped citizens get up a revolution. It was a great success but Crockett did not live to see it. Together with a few hundred other patriots he was trapped in an old adobe church in San Antonio called the Alamo by several hundred Spaniards. He could have escaped with the other strong men, but they would have had to leave the sick and undergo that painful form of death known as a Mexican trial. So they all stayed. Crockett died with the rest so gloriously that Texas still refers to the Spartans as "The Crocketts of Greece."

But we can't help having some slight sympathy for the Mexican soldiers who had to hang around the Alamo while Crockett was still shooting that long-barreled rifle.

Rubbing It In

BY RUTH CAMELON

Of all the undignified, useless irritating tricks which grown-up children permit themselves I think there is none more undignified, more useless, more irritating than "rubbing it in."

I happen to know a family, one of whose members frequently indulges in this unpleasant trick. When any other member of the family circle makes some foolish mistake or is guilty of some trifling folly, this man not only teases the unfortunate one about his slip at the time, but also tucks it away in his memory cupboard to be brought out on every opportune and inopportune occasion and "rubbed in."

Once upon a time the mother of the family gave away to a tramp her husband's best coat instead of his old one—as wives have been doing ever since wives and husbands and tramps existed. That was 28 years ago. Since that time the story of her mistake has probably been told to two or three hundred people. For whenever anyone unwittingly touches a certain catch in that man's mind that story jumps to the surface just as automatically and unfailingly as the baby's lack-in-the-box or rather much more so. For the spring in the baby's lack-in-the-box sometimes gets broken—this one never does.

This is but one sample of his habit but it will give you an idea of the way he perpetuates all the little mistakes and follies of his unfortunate family.

Another species of rubbing it in is that performed by the person who has been proved right.

Suppose you are the person who has been proved right. You have advocated a certain course of conduct, someone has argued against it and refused to take it. Circumstances have proved that your advice was right.

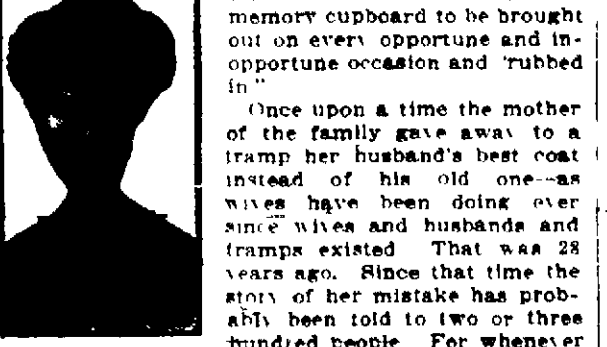

What then? Will you bring the success of your course of conduct to the attention of the unbeliever and let the facts speak for themselves. Will you drop the seed in the soil and let it alone to take root?

Or will you keep referring to your triumph and reiterating if not the actual phrase at least the spirit of it. I told you so? Will you keep prodding the seed to make it grow?

Which?

Let me tell you a little fable. Once there was a person who was proved right. When this person first announced his triumph to the man who had thought otherwise, the latter, being reasonably open-minded, was convinced. Unfortunately the person who had been proved right wasn't satisfied with this, but kept rubbing his triumph in. Finally the man who had thought otherwise couldn't stand it any longer and he rose up in his wrath and said, "I admitted you were right and I meant to do likewise in the future but this settles it. Too much rubbing it in has soured my good intentions. I'd rather do my own way and be wrong than yours and be right."

As the moral of this fable is fairly obvious I won't "rub it in."

ODDS AND ENDS

Let us first see if it can be... for the... often found fighting side by side with Clark, Underwood and Mann.

And, while Speaker Clark is at present fighting against closure, nobody noticed any bitter opposition on his part to generous rules on tariff and currency, or to secret caucuses on these measures.

It would seem, indeed, as if the long-predicted break in Democratic ranks has come. While the present cloud is no bigger than a man's hand, it is likely to increase.

The British cabinet has found that now, as in olden days, the scapegoat must be driven to the hills. Exit, therefore, Colonel Seely.

At that the English ministry seems confronted with the problem of making the army and navy over into democratic institutions.

By all means John Weir should be signed as a city detective. Even Sherlock Holmes could not have improved on his method.

In justification for those militia boys who turned burglars, however, it must be remembered that they haven't been paid for over two months. Perhaps, then, the state is an accessory before the fact.

The Pennsylvania railroad has laid off 17,000 men since last fall. Which doesn't fit very well with the Democratic theory that business has been helped by the new tariff.

Did you notice that those New Jersey election officials sentenced to jail for crookedness in the primary had been working for Stokes, the "progressive," "antimachine" Republican candidate?

Colorado Springs, it seems, has lost 78 persons of school age since last year. Isn't it about time we were adopting a comprehensive scheme for making this a better and cheaper town for home-owners to live in? And must we not secure factories?

The interstate commerce commission finds that "big lines" take from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 from the railroads each year in rebates. And that's almost as much as the 5 per cent increase in rates that the railroads are asking, amounts to.

In other words, are we, the common, ordinary shippers, through increased rates, to pay the rebates given to big manufacturers, the owners of "big lines"?

Certainly no one in Colorado Springs would offer any hysterical objections to 25 cent gas—except the gas company. But, at that, the offer to Mayor McKesson from Oklahoma sounds just a trifle gaseous.

The northwest is to have telephone competition thrust upon it by Attorney General McReynolds. Evidently the att. gen. has a grudge against the north-west.

The Colorado Agricultural college seems to be a training school for railroad agricultural experts. First the Rock Island robbed the college of Professor Cottrell, and now the Rio Grande has kidnapped Professor Olin.

In certain respects, however, both professors have larger fields for usefulness for the state in their new positions.

The Rock Island has done so much for eastern Colorado through Professor Cottrell that all will rejoice that the Rio Grande has decided to enter a systematic agricultural extension campaign throughout its territory.

And while we're on this subject may we hint to the roads that they could do a world of good along this line by giving Colorado freight rates proportionate to those given California?

Colorado assessors want six-year terms. And, since we have the recall, we think they're justified. It takes a man two years to learn the business.

South American natives may call T. R. "muy simpatico" (most sympathetic), but that's not at all what the G. O. P. harmonizers call him.

John Weir isn't the only Sherlock Holmes Trinidad has one. In refutation of the theory that a prominent business man there was slugged by strikers in revenge for his opposition to them, this sleuth points out that the cash register was broken into, the man's pocketbook stolen, his pockets turned inside out. And he infers that the thugs were after the man's money.

Big league baseball this year promises to be played in the courts, rather than on the diamond.

There are now 435 members of the house of representatives. And there will be just 435 Republican platform this fall. Each G. O. P. candidate will run on a platform suited to what he regards as the degree of progressiveness reached by the majority of his district.

It looks suspiciously to us as if the Denver harmonizers have seized upon this Liberal party idea as their last desperate hope.

The Denver Express has a new solution of the Panama difficulty. If we are prevented from sending coastwise traffic through the canal free why not let us send cheap shipping by government steamship lines operated at cost?

Something of the same nature by the way has just been suggested by one of the most standard of all standard Republican senators. Senator Weeks wants obsolete United States cruisers used for the establishment of a government steamship line to South American ports.

About all that some Republicans will admit is that Wilson is the best president we have had since Taft stepped out—Des Moines Register and Leader.

And some of them even go so far as to assert that Taft was the better man

TRACHOMA IN A MILL TOWN

Trachoma is an infectious disease of the eye. Probably more cases known as granulated lids are cases of trachoma. In time the seeing surface of the eye is so blurred that light penetrates but poorly. In time blindness or practical blindness is brought about. The lids are turned inward, and thus another source of inconvenience arises. Trachoma is catching. It is caught by close association with a person having the disease.

Last year 30 cases were discovered among the employees of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company. The men were discharged. The community got so agitated. The people were so panicky about trachoma as some towns get about smallpox. The trachoma subjects were put in jail. Nobody knew what to do with them and the jail seemed the solution.

When this happened the Ohio board of health and the public health service got on the job. Their investigation brought the total up to 78 cases of trachoma among the employees, 1.3 per cent of the force. The cause did not seem to lie in the works. They then investigated the people at home. Much trachoma was found, especially among the school children.

Most of the trouble was among newly arrived Roumanians, Magyars, Croatians, Serbians and Lithuanians. These people were in the main unmarried men who lived in overcrowded lodging houses. Many boarded in the families of their fellow countrymen. Overcrowding was fearful. Sanitary conditions in the home were bad. When a case of trachoma came into a group it could be expected to spread to the other members of the group.

The experts from these two bodies made certain recommendations which were straightaway put in operation. They were:

1. Employment of a full term medical officer to examine the employees in the mills and to serve as health officer for the town.
2. Employment of a trained nurse to assist the trachoma cases under the physician's directions.
3. Segregation of cases of trachoma.
4. A follow-up system of inspection of the improved cases that are back at work.
5. Semi-weekly report of suspicious cases by the foreman.
6. Provision for an adequate water supply for East Youngstown.
7. A sewer system.
8. Abolition of yard vaults.
9. Installation of garbage collection.
10. Restriction of crowding in lodging houses and regulation of their sanitary condition by a system of inspection and licensing.
11. Physical supervision of the children in school.
12. Establishment of a hospital and dispensary.

CURE FOR CHILDREN'S HABIT.
Reader writes: "If the mother sucking habit will try wrapping the thumb in adhesive plaster she will have no more trouble. At least this method worked a cure in our little one."

REPLY.
Frequently it works, plan is as good as any.

ALL RIGHT TO WED.
B. G. writes: "About four years ago I was innocently infected with syphilis. I have always lived a clean life and have never used alcohol in any form. I have treated with one of the best physicians in the city and am apparently all right. I mean to be in the very best of health and have never felt better in my life. After my misfortune I made up my mind never to marry. I'd rather stay single a thousand times than to have my wife or child suffer through my misfortune."

My physician assures me that it will be all right for me to get married. What is your opinion? Have you known men who have had this disease, and who have taken proper care and treatment, to get married and did they have normally healthy children? Can it be absolutely eliminated from the blood?

REPLY.
Your physician's advice is in line with the best opinion on the subject. It is not a blood disease. It can be cured.

TAKE MORE EXERCISE.
H. A. K. writes: "Will you please explain what the following condition in a young man of 22 would indicate? Six or seven passages of urine a day, which, when allowed to stand in a glass over night show a whitish cloudy deposit floating at the bottom. Is this 'albumin'?" When standing for any length of time a tired, dragging feeling comes across the small of the back, although it is absent when walking."

REPLY.
The whitish cloudy deposit is not albumin. It is of no significance. Drink more water and take more exercise in the open air.

BABY SUCKS THUMB.
Mrs. F. E. C. writes: "My baby, almost 15 months old, sucks his thumb almost continually. Will you please tell me the best way to stop the habit? Baby is fond of mashed potatoes. Do you think it is too heavy for him?"

REPLY.
1. Sometimes wrapping the thumb works. Sometimes putting quinine on it is effective. You must break the habit, and to do so you must stay on the job.

2. Babies are usually fed an excess of starch. If you give mashed potatoes and butter, so cautiously. Well-to-do bread and crisp crackers are better for children the age of yours.

BOOK ON SUBJECT.
E. D. K. writes: "Will you inform me where I can obtain directions for food and amount of food to be eaten, by one who has Bright's disease?"

REPLY.
We published such directions some time ago. A very small book is by Von Noorden. It is called "Nephritis." Your book dealer will get it for you.

VIENNA REVIVES PASSPORTS
Emigration to United States Can't Decrease in Army Service

From the New York Times
VIENNA—The large volume of emigration to the United States has caused a considerable falling off in the number of Austrians liable for military service amounting to an estimated total of 70,000.

In order to reduce this exodus, the Austrian government has just established a bureau attached to the Vienna police office with power to control general travelers' movements and to summon travelers to the office to give an account of themselves.

Travelers will have to provide themselves with passports, a practice which, in inland travel, has been obsolete since 1887. A most important rule concerns the prohibition of emigration for men between the ages of 17 and 38.

While bachelors were free to emigrate after having served their three years in the first line of the army, now they will have to stay in the country 13 years more, until they have served in the reserve, the Landwehr and the Landsturm, which is likely material to reduce the number of able-bodied emigrants to America.

A special agent of the bureau will be stationed on the frontier with power to intercept would-be emigrants.

Putting New "Punch" Into Church's Temperance Fight

More Militant Marks Modern Methods of Antiquer War: "The Flying Squadron of America" Organizing New Kind of Temperance Crusade in One Hundred and Fifty Cities: A New Pledge for Antisocial Men

BY THE RELIGIOUS RAMBLER

That the temperance cause has suddenly assumed the most formidable political proportions all over the land, is known to every reader, but what is not generally known is the comprehensive and fundamental plans that the church leaders in the antitiquer fight have laid for overcoming the increased opposition they will surely have to meet from the organized liquor business, which now has its very existence to be in imminent peril.

Most spectacular of the new agencies is one of national proportions, called "The Flying Squadron of America." Eight of the best-known temperance leaders and speakers of the land have banded themselves together to hold a three days' meeting, of two sessions each day in each of 150 American cities, including the university centers. The attendant features of the great missionary and men, and religious campaigns, including chorus leaders, special musicians, local committees, community temperance surveys, literary propaganda and an enlisted company of follow-up workers.

The Flying Squadron. The personnel of this new aggressive temperance force is as follows: J. Frank Hahly, Republican, former state senator, member of congress, and governor of Indiana.

Oliver W. Stewart, former member of the legislature of Illinois, prohibitionist of Arizona, twice candidate for president of the United States.

Clinton N. Howard, "the little giant," America's eloquent platform advocate of civic righteousness, New York.

Daniel A. Poling, president of the National Council of One Hundred, a vice president of the National Antisocial league, national superintendent of temperance and Christian citizenship of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, Ohio.

Dr. Ira Landrith, Democrat, president of the late international Y. M. C. A. convention, president of Ward-Belmont college, Nashville, and member of the state board of trustees of the Antisocial league of Tennessee.

Mrs. Mary Harris Army, national organizer and lecturer of the W. C. T. U., Georgia.

Dr. Wilbur F. Sheridan, Republican, general secretary of the Epworth League of America, Chicago, Ill.

Hon. J. B. Lewis, Boston, treasurer of the "declaration of war" of the squadron consists of a single sentence: "We stand for the national prohibition of the liquor traffic." This does not mean, the leaders hasten to explain, that they represent the prohibition party. The reception of the proposal for the adoption of a constitutional amendment upon this subject, which is now before congress, has made it clear that the temperance people will not have to elect a president in order to realize their hopes.

An official statement thus sets forth the nonpartisan character of the enterprise.

The Flying Squadron will not be under the auspices, management or control of any political party, society, league, union, sect or organization.

will be managed by its own members, and conducted absolutely for the unification of all who desire national prohibition, in such a way as to strengthen the hands of all worthy movements now in the field. It is not the purpose to create a new party or permanent organization. The National Council of One Hundred, composed of representatives from 11 national reform, educational, religious and temperance organizations, has become the depository of the pledge taken.

Saluting Resolute. Aside from the support it already has from the great religious and temperance organizations, the squadron purposes to enlist an army of fighters who will sign the following pledge: Whenever a politician or an executive officer, or a political party, prefers the liquor traffic above the public morals, such men must be set aside and such parties abandoned. To the accomplishment of this high purpose we dedicate ourselves and invite all who are with us agreed to enroll in this way by signing this pledge of service.

The cost of this year's campaign, which will begin its public meetings about the first of October is estimated at $200,000. This item gives an idea of the scale upon which the campaigning is to be done.

A "Loyalty League." Symptomatic of the change that has come over the temperance leaders is the new purpose of the pledges proposed, like the foregoing. Until recently, the only form of temperance pledge known was one of personal abstinence. It contemplated drying up the liquor business by eradicating the demand. Now the measures are more militant.

Even more ominous than the fighting pledge of the Flying Squadron is one put out by the Pennsylvania Antisocial league, and to be circulated nationally. Its signers become "The Loyalty Legion" and the aim is to make temperance the dividing line in all public matters. The peculiar distinction of this pledge is that its signers covenant to withdraw their support even from newspapers which do not stand by the temperance cause. The wording of the vow is:

"As a matter of conscience I purpose to stand by all men movements and newspapers that stand against the liquor traffic."

Pledging Bible Class Men. Still further this lining up of citizens is being pushed, to the breaking up of old political lines and alliances. The members of the organized adult Bible classes of America are so numerous that they can decide a doubtful political issue anywhere if it has a moral side to it. No public man can ignore the potency of the Sunday school forces in present-day life.

Now the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association has adopted and is sending to every one of its adult Bible classes the following voters' vow:

Looking forward to another election, I solemnly make this pledge that I will sincerely endeavor to play a Freeman's part as a true patriot to myself, to my state and to my country. I will strive to keep an open mind free from bitterness, class hatred, sectionalism, sectarianism and all narrow prejudices and be intent only on serving my state and country.

I will vote as my own enlightened conscience dictates, and with a sense of my responsibility to God. No considerations of personal interest, personal friendship or personal relationship shall sway me in the exercise of this highest of all my manhood's privileges and obligations.

I will strive to be such a citizen as my country, in her highest needs today and in the future, may count upon always. This means also that no party or faction can count upon me. My first and constant allegiance is to my state and nation.

In thus voting loyalty to my flag to my land and to my own manhood I also pledge myself to use all honorable methods to overthrow any politician or party that in any wise seeks to corrupt the electorate or that brings dishonor upon the American name.

I make this vow of independence and loyalty after deliberate thought, relying upon the help of God of our fathers in keeping it.

There are a hundred new developments of the temperance movement, none under way including the significant county non-licensing campaign in Pennsylvania. One must be alert to keep posted upon the newest phases of the situation. But it is clear that the churches of the land look upon this as the most favorable time to push the temperance battle to the goal.

FEDERAL REGULATION OF CONGRESSMEN URGED

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Federal regulation of elections of senators and representatives on demand of citizens was sought in two bills introduced today by Senator Sherman.

"The right as well as the propriety of giving to the United States power to protect itself against the corrupt choice of its representative officers cannot be challenged," said the senator. "The election in Chicago in November, 1912, witnessed wholesale frauds in numerous precincts. It has been established beyond question that such frauds resulted in many thousands of unlawful votes either improperly cast or improperly introduced into the ballot boxes."

SIR LIONEL CHANGES HIS PLANS AT LAST MINUTE

LONDON, March 27.—Sir Lionel Gordon British minister to Mexico, today canceled his booking on board the steamer-tan on which he was to sail from Liverpool tomorrow for New York on his return to Mexico City.

It is understood there is a possibility of Sir Lionel going direct to Rio de Janeiro to take up his post as minister to Brazil instead of returning to Mexico City. This, however, has not been definitely decided.

The only statement the foreign office would authorize was that Sir Lionel's passage to New York had been canceled and that no date had been fixed for his return to Mexico City.

DOWAGER EMPRESS OF JAPAN IS CRITICALLY ILL

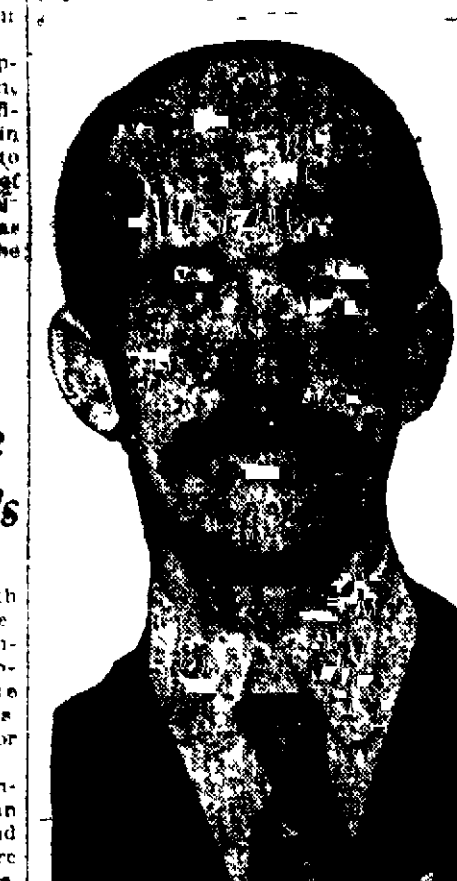

TOKIO, March 27.—The dowager empress Haruko, of Japan is seriously ill today at Numazu, a watering place southeast of Yokohama where she resides in the Imperial valley.

Her majesty is suffering from heart disease and her condition causes considerable alarm to the members of the imperial family. Several court physicians today went to attend her majesty.

The dowager empress is 64 years old. Her husband, the Emperor Mutsuhito died in 1912.

BROTHER CHARGES BROTHER WITH BEING BURGLAR

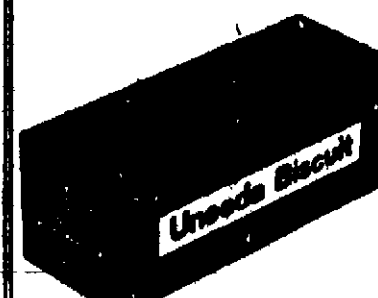

WATERLY, Ia., March 27.—Martell Beebe is in jail here today having been arrested last night by his own brother, Marshal George Beebe on a charge of burglary. The marshal is investigating the burglary of the home of Mrs. John Royer, during the latter's absence in a hospital two weeks ago. He suspected his brother and swore out the warrant against him.

ARSON SQUAD DESTROYS IRISH COUNTRY MANSON

RELFANT, Ireland, March 27.—A suffragette arson squad early today burned down Abbeylands the splendid country house of Major General Sir Hugh McCalmont near White Abbey, on Relfant Lough. The house although fully furnished, was not occupied except by caretakers. The loss is $75,000.

The suffragettes recently threatened to start war against the Ulster Unionist leader because of the refusal of Sir Edward Carson to support the suffragette movement. The grounds of Abbeylands have been used recently for drilling the Ulster Unionist volunteers.

FRISCO HOTEL MEN WILL NOT BOST PRICES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Two hundred and fifty hotel proprietors of San Francisco agreed in an executive session of their association today to not raise their charges above the rates now prevailing during the year of the Panama-Pacific international exposition.

In making the announcement Kirk Harris, manager of the association said that 80,000 rooms would be available at prices between $1 and $3.

The association put itself on record as opposed to solicitors on trains, at stations and at the ferry building.

COUNT OKUMA MAY HEAD NEW JAPANESE CABINET

TOKIO, March 27.—Strong efforts are being made to induce the emperor to designate Count Shigenobu Okuma as head of the new Japanese cabinet. It has been urged on his majesty that Count Okuma, who was formerly foreign minister, is a powerful and popular statesman. Although he is a leader of the Progressive party it is pointed out that he is capable of forming a strong coalition cabinet calculated to please the Japanese public and to create good feeling throughout the empire at the period of the approaching coronation.

The Conservatives have given indications that they will oppose the choice of Count Okuma and the elder statesmen today held a long conference on the subject. The members of the house of representatives whose sittings were suspended a few days ago reassembled today and immediately passed a resolution to adjourn until December.

A TOURAINE, LATE FOUR DAYS, ARRIVES IN SAFETY

NEW YORK, March 27.—The French liner La Touraine, whose four days apprehension in reaching this port caused apprehension for a time was reported 110 miles east of Sandyhook by a wireless dispatch at 6:30 a. m. today. She should reach her dock late today.

La Touraine is bound from Havre from which port she sailed March 15 with 350 steerage and 208 first and second class passengers. A previous dispatch reported her proceeding slowly with deranged machinery on account of heavy seas.

WEYERHAEUSER, 'AMERICA'S LUMBER KING,' CRITICALLY ILL

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 27.—Frederick Weyerhaeuser of St. Paul, widely known as "America's lumber king," and one of the wealthiest men in the United States, today was reported in private dispatches to be dangerously ill of pneumonia at his winter home in Pasadena, Cal. Mr. Weyerhaeuser is 80 years old.

11 WORKMEN DROWN WHEN CABLE BREAKS

BRUNSDUE, BELGIA, Germany, March 27.—Eleven workmen were drowned today when a suspended cable car fell into a lock of the Kiel canal while they were crossing from one side to the other.

CRIPPLE CREEK WOMAN IS CONVICTED OF MURDER

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., March 27.—Mrs. Jennie Werner was convicted of first degree murder today for the killing of Philip Roberts, Jr., a miner, on December 24. The jury fixed the penalty at life imprisonment.

Highest Ski Slide in America, at Stoughton, Wisconsin

The highest ski slide in the United States is at Stoughton, Wis., and there during the winter have held many championship contests. This slide is said to be the highest and steepest artificial slide in the world. Only the best skiers can use it, and when they reach the bottom they are flying at the rate of 30 miles an hour. It is 125 feet high, and it is 125 feet high. It is 125 feet high. It is 125 feet high.

Thorpe Says That His Name Is "Benchwarmer," Only Notes

By FRANK G. MENY

NEW YORK, March 27.—The gentleman who coined the expression "shrouded in mystery," must have had in mind the present day and age when four yachts are being built for international racing purposes, and the details of their construction are about as hard to obtain as the conviction of a crooked bank president.

Tom Lipton, who is partly responsible for the building of a yacht in England which he hopes will lift the cup that Uncle Sam has guarded for so many years. Tom has hired an army of detectives to loiter around the boat house, both day and night, to prevent any person from peeking through the knot holes and getting a look at the skiff that is costing him the profit on millions of pounds of tea.

Select One From Three Hens.

The conditions are but little different here. Three yachts are in process of

Schneider, Captain of 1914 Terror

"Chuck" Schneider, the fast little captain and shortstop of the Terror, is rapidly rounding into his old-time form. Schneider played with the Zoot last year and proved to be an infielder above the ordinary semipro player. Schneider's specialty is stealing bases and last spring he won a game against Centennial by stealing home.

ALONG THE SPORTSMAN'S BEAT

THE INVASION of Texas collegiate baseball fields by the University of Colorado team has not been such a great success, from the standpoint of scores. The university team has been beaten four games out of five and the star pitchers, McGraw, Milroy and Chamberlin, have been hammered all over the lot. Poor fielding has also been apparent. But nevertheless the state team is stronger than last year, and has a world of box material. High school and college students are waiting for McGraw. They like the manner in which he treated them last year.

RANDY JAMISON, former Colorado college distance runner, and the man who broke the state half-mile record at the conference meet last year, while running under Utah colors, has been declared ineligible. Jamison will be succeeded by either Travers or Fliegel.

CLARK FOWLER is the type of ball player who deserves to make good in fast company. He may lack the experience but he is about the best man in this neck of the woods. Here's hoping he makes good with Topeka.

WHEN IT COMES TO faithful and hard practicing the Cutler team can rank with the best of them. The Crimston men are out early every afternoon and are training hard going to bed nights.

UNLESS D. U. falls down on its contract to finish its new track for the conference meet, lovers of track athletics will have only one chance to see the local athletes in action. The only meet scheduled here is a dual affair with the Aggies, April 18.

PROF. BILL NYE of the High school has turned over the management of the teams this spring to Prof. Earl Munson. Nye worked hard for Terror successes and deserved a great deal of credit for the interest he took in the teams.

THE PROSPECTS of McGraw's team brighten as Marquand rounds into form. Tanager is a late starter and Matty likes a few warm days before cutting loose, so it is up to the south-paw to do the cold weather work. On the condition of the tube depends the flying getaway which the Little Napoleon prizes so highly. Just now Richard appears to be further advanced than any of the twirlers. Brooklyn and Boston will be compelled to stick along briskly to keep the pace. The Phillies are likely to be far more interested in keeping out of the cellar than in seriously disputing the match of the champions.

AFTER looking over the recruit talent Charlie Doan has come to the conclusion that an old work horse like Mike Doan might earn a berth on his team after all. Runners have it that the Phillies are trying to persuade the shortstop to return.

THE FACT that Roy Hartzell put the ball over the right field fence in a recent game read well until Beaumont dark was mentioned. The barrier this is as near that Hans Wagner, standing at the plate, could almost reach it with his hat. Right field is practically an obsolete position.

THERE WILL BE baseball games this year on days when the athletes aren't detained in Grand Rapids by lawsuits.

ALL LINES OF SPORT should take a tip from baseball and not start talking big money. The rebellious spirit of the times is likely to crystallize into an outlaw movement any time. Those that have the inside track had better keep silent or the outsiders will want to declare themselves in.

THE FED SCHEDULE makers would not let Buffalo open at home. They were afraid the bowling tourney wouldn't be over in time.

It is well for the Cuba that Heine Zim has been shunted back to third base. As a keystone king he resembles John Evers from his feet downward.

Punctures 90% Less

Investigations prove that with "Nobby Tread" tires punctures are 90% less than with the average tire.

The big, thick "nobs" on "Nobby Tread" tires stand out so far from the shoe that nails, glass, sharp stones, etc., hardly ever reach the shoe.

Study the "nobs," their size, their thickness, and the way they are placed, and you will understand why.

And remember this you have got to wear out these big, thick, tough "nobs" before you even start to wear out the extra strong tire underneath that is one reason why experts call "Nobby Treads"

Two Tires in One

The original wear-resisting quality, the quantity of rubber, the methods of construction all have been rigidly maintained in "Nobby Tread" tires, and maintained regardless of cost and regardless of price competition.

"Nobby Tread" tires are the largest selling high-grade anti-skid tires in the world, and they are REAL anti-skid tires.

TIGERS BAT HARD AND RUN WILD DEFEAT ALL-STARS BY 9-7 SCORE

Claybaugh too Good for Denver Hitters and Locals Find Messrs. Ryan and Kaiser
Easy; Today's Game at 2:30

By T. W. ROSS.

Colorado college's Tigers showed their teeth to the Denver All Stars today and received the verdict by a 9-7 score, after nine innings of a good old-fashioned hitting war. The Tigers hit the ball with a vengeance, aggregating 13 safe ones and unmercifully hammering Harper's hurlers, Ryan and Kaiser.

Claybaugh, who has been carefully groomed by Coach Rothgeb this season, was effective after the first inning, until the ninth, when he loosened up the screws and allowed three hits. Claybaugh struck out seven and pitched three and allowed a run when he threw wild to second. It was his first full game for the Tigers, and he showed speed to burn and good early season control.

Wild Base Running.

The Tigers' base running was not safe and sure, but, in taking many big chances, luck and errors favored them, and several scores were the result of nervous work on the runways. Base stealing promises to be one of Coach Rothgeb's favorite amusements this spring, and his players are hitting the dirt at every opportunity with the hook and split glides that show plenty of nerve, at least.

The outfielders either favored their arms yesterday or haven't yet developed the whip to the plate. On several occasions the ball relayed twice, failed to get the runner at home when a good throw from the garden would have accomplished the work. Both Ryan and Dunn, left and center fielders, failed to send the ball in fast enough.

All the Tigers are hitting the ball

"LUTE" CLAYBAUGH

Who was the glabbiest in yesterday's game with the All Stars. It was Claybaugh's first appearance as a regular hurler for the Tigers and he proved speedy and reliable. His performance yesterday assures the Tigers of another good pitcher to help out Jackson.

Today's game will start at 2:30 o'clock. Toothacher, the best of Harper's hurlers, will do slab duty, while he will be opposed by Jackson. It should prove a pitchers' battle.

The enemy scored two in the first. After Astler fell victim to Claybaugh, Harper singled and scored on Boatwick's three-base clout to center field. Boatwick crossed when Fels rapped out one for the choice of the field.

Greenstein drew a pass, but as caught at second, Kramer to Heffner. Ryan hit Yant, Culp and Jackson. Mann singled to right, and Ryan threw the ball away in an effort to catch Yant, and two men scored. In the second, Dunn singled past third, went to second on Dunn's sacrifice, third on Jackson's throw to first, catching Toothacher. Ryan went out, Jackson to Culp, Claybaugh took out and Yant and Heffner went out on infield smacks.

In the third Astler drew four wide ones, was sacrificed to second by Harper. Went to third on Claybaugh's wild throw and scored on Fels hit to left field. Jackson, dropped Greenstein's fly, but a moment later speared Dunn's liner, retreating the side. Mann drew a pass, stole second, but was touched out when Greenstein took Culp's grounder near the base. Duke hit to center, but died when Culp was caught off second.

Dunn walked, Toothacher fled out to Evans. Heffner bobbled Ryan's grounder, but Dunn was caught off second. Jackson to Heffner. Claybaugh hit Astler and Harper fled out to Duke. Jackson got a base on balls, stole second with a sliding effect, but was caught at third after Yant's hit.

Tigers Score Three.

In the fifth, owing to poor throwing in the Tiger outfield, Greenstein stretched a three-base hit into a home-run. Three hits and a wild throw by Good fielding prevented a score this inning. The Tigers clinched things in their part by falling on Kaiser for five hits to the outfield, and sent four runs over.

In the ninth Boatwick hit a Texas leaguer to center field, but Duke didn't start fast enough, and the visitor scooped second. Greenstein poked a hard one to Mann in right field, and Boatwick drew a pass. Ryan hit to Dunn, who two-cushion shot to left. Toothacher ended things by striking out. The score:

CLARK FOWLER OUT FOR 10PFKA IFAM

Kos. Flat Batting Given a
1st by Gear; Will Be Kept on List

"Clouting" Clark Fowler, the master of the easy swing and homerun secret, who has held down the initial bag for his own Zoos the last two years, is now in Texas, at the request of Dale Gear, manager of the Topeka Western league team. Gear needs a good first baseman, and when his team met the locals last summer in two exhibition games, the manager of the Kansas team was pleased with Fowler's work. He sent the local player a request to join the training camp last week, and Fowler packed up his bat and glove (it was "Hestings" bat) and left. Word from him to friends here states that he likes the training, but that the competition is pretty fast and his inexperience is counting against him.

Gear said that Fowler's batting swing was the "freest" he ever saw outside of big league ball. Many a board in the Zoo fence can testify to the smacks that Fowler has landed and he has won many a game with that "over-the-orchard" hit.

If Fowler does not make good this year he probably will be given a chance next year. If he returns he will play with the Zoos.

LEARNED DEFEATED AGAIN

BOSTON, March 27.—W. A. Learned of East Orange, N. J., many times national lawn tennis champion, and F. C. Inman of New York were defeated tonight in the invitation tournament on the covered courts of the Longwood Cricket club, by G. F. Touchard of New York, the national indoor champion, and William Washburn of Harvard. The latter pair were themselves eliminated in the semifinal stage by the Boston team of A. S. Dabney and N. W. Niles, which will meet R. N. Williams II of Philadelphia, and H. C. Johnson of Boston, in the final.

GAME POSTPONED; PLAY AGAIN

The game between the first teams of the Columbia and Steele schools played Monday, won by the Steele team, was protested to officials of the Grammar School league and the protest was allowed. The game will be played over. The question of eligibility of one of the Steele players caused the protest.

BATTING TEAM'S TAUNTS.

Meanwhile two members of the batting team stand out near the first and third bases, shouting advice to the batsmen and hurling taunts at the pitcher and the fielders.

SCOTT, BACKED UP BY WONDERFUL FIELDING (catching and flinging that should be an object lesson to English cricketers), proved too good for the Giants, and the three batsmen were dismissed without a run being scored, no batsman being able to gain the home base after starting on his career.

IN A TWINKLING, AGAIN AN OBJECT LESSON TO ENGLISH CRICKETERS, THE GIANTS WERE OUT ON THE FIELD, FABER READY TO PITCH AND THE WHITE SOX READY TO BAT. FABER, THE GIANTS' PITCHER, PROVED TOO GOOD, AND AGAIN THERE WAS A BLANK SCORE SHEET. NO SCORE IN THE NEXT THREE INNINGS, THOUGH THE SPECTATORS WERE ROUSED TO ENTHUSIASM BY THREE WONDERFUL CATCHES, TAKEN AT LEAST 100 YARDS FROM THE HOME BASE, TWO BY EVANS AND ONE BY MAGEE.

Then a roar of delight. The Weaver of the White Sox hit the ball fair and square among the spectators on the far side of the ground, so gaining a home-run, or complete rounder, while bringing another man home in front of him. At the end of their third innings

HOW AN ENGLISH SCRIBE DESCRIBED THE SOX-GIANT BALL GAME BEFORE THE KING

Phraseology of British Keeps Comparing the Game to Cricket; Wonder at Fielding

(Baseball is as yet a source of mystery and wonder to the Englishman in England. He cannot understand certain things connected with the game, yet he is willing to make an heroic effort to learn. Here is the manner in which the London Daily Mail's man described the game played in London by the Giants and White Sox—the contest which was witnessed by King George.)

WONDERFUL FIELDING.

Impressions of a Great Game.

By Laurence Woodhouse.

"Some climax," cried the Americans at the Chelsea football ground yesterday when the "Giants" of New York and the "White Sox" of Chicago lined up before the king and cheered his majesty right heartily.

Indeed it was a great climax. These, the two most powerful baseball teams in the United States, were concluding their world's tour, and the king, "a keen judge of all sports," as Lord Pemborough had said on the previous day, had decided to honor the game with his presence, and, as he entered the royal box the 20,000 spectators rose to their feet and cheered vociferously.

The cheers were taken up again with a strong American accent when Mr. Comiskey, the millionaire owner of the "White Sox," Mr. McGraw and Mr. Callahan, managers of the two teams, were introduced to his majesty. The cheers were even louder when the king, receiving a baseball from the American, handed it to Mr. McGraw, who threw it out to the umpire, and so opened the game formally, as President Wilson had done at Washington last April.

Five hours before the game started there had been a regular theater queue at the office of the Chelsea football ground. People of all ranks and stations were clamoring for reserved seats to see this great contest between the two most famous baseball teams in the world. The covered stands were filled, and a huge crowd assembled on the far side of the ground to see this game, a glorified form of rounders, which is still played, especially in the north of England.

Then, after the king had taken his seat, the game began in real earnest. The White Sox, clad in dark blue knickerbockers, fastened at the knees, and wearing the famous white stockings from which they gain their nickname, took the field. The Giants, arrayed in white flannels striped with purple, had won the toss and were batting first. The fielders took their places around the diamond, the catcher (or wicket-keeper, as we should know him) with mask on and heavily padded, crouched down behind the batsman, and behind him, also masked, stood the umpire, Mr. Will Klem.

White Sox Scott started the pitching. He is not a specialist. He can make the ball swerve from either side; he can sling it in a fast or a slow one. Gazing heavenward, he clasped the ball in both hands to his face, as if offering an invocation. Then he raised both hands above his head and, springing into the air, hurled the ball with terrific force at the luckless batsman, who seemed quite unperturbed, and, hitting the ball smartly along the ground, hurled his club away and dashed for the first base. Having gained this successfully, whenever the pitcher looked as though he were about to deliver the ball to the second batsman, the first batsman attempted to steal some ground towards the second base, but was driven back by the pitcher hurling the ball suddenly to the fielder on the first base.

The Giants, arrayed in white flannels striped with purple, had won the toss and were batting first. The fielders took their places around the diamond, the catcher (or wicket-keeper, as we should know him) with mask on and heavily padded, crouched down behind the batsman, and behind him, also masked, stood the umpire, Mr. Will Klem.

White Sox Scott started the pitching. He is not a specialist. He can make the ball swerve from either side; he can sling it in a fast or a slow one. Gazing heavenward, he clasped the ball in both hands to his face, as if offering an invocation. Then he raised both hands above his head and, springing into the air, hurled the ball with terrific force at the luckless batsman, who seemed quite unperturbed, and, hitting the ball smartly along the ground, hurled his club away and dashed for the first base. Having gained this successfully, whenever the pitcher looked as though he were about to deliver the ball to the second batsman, the first batsman attempted to steal some ground towards the second base, but was driven back by the pitcher hurling the ball suddenly to the fielder on the first base.

Then, after the king had taken his seat, the game began in real earnest. The White Sox, clad in dark blue knickerbockers, fastened at the knees, and wearing the famous white stockings from which they gain their nickname, took the field. The Giants, arrayed in white flannels striped with purple, had won the toss and were batting first. The fielders took their places around the diamond, the catcher (or wicket-keeper, as we should know him) with mask on and heavily padded, crouched down behind the batsman, and behind him, also masked, stood the umpire, Mr. Will Klem.

CLAIRVOYANTS

NEW YORK MARKET CHICAGO MARKET

NEW YORK, March 27.—The progressive decline in stock market transactions proceeded today to a point which brought down speculation to minimum proportions. The slow downward movement of the last few days continued.

The discouraging feature, from the standpoint of traders committed to the long side, was the comparatively wide decline of a few issues, in spite of the fact that no severe pressure was directed against them. Lehigh Valley stood out most conspicuously among these stocks falling back three points. Pittsburgh, C. & S. L., lost two points. The recovery which followed its first break on announcement of the amount to dividend, Canadian Pacific and Northwestern also were heavy. Union Pacific's February net fell off $512,000, and Illinois Central's, $248,000.

Of the industrials, American Sugar was the only one to advance. Its decline was attributed to current trade conditions and to forecasts of an unusually large beet sugar crop. Tobacco stocks were depressed by the prospects of further litigation with the government. The time money market, the banks continued to accumulate cash on transactions with the interior. A cash gain of $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 was indicated by money movements of currency during the week.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,400,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

CHICAGO, March 27.—The corn market expanded to huge proportions today, and the market, after violent changes, wound up at an advance of 1/4 to 1/2 cent. It is looking over 30 cents. It has been attempted, a group of strong houses trying to dislodge all weak holdings and to absorb the offerings at lower prices. Wheat closed firm at 1/4 cent off to a shade higher, and oats unchanged to a sixteenth higher, but provisions down 2 1/2 to 100.

Efforts to smash corn prices to below 45 cents for May overwhelmed all opposition. The liquidation was severe during an early decline that extended to nearly 3/4 under last night's level. Hosts of discouraged longs unloaded, and meanwhile there was apparently reckless short selling. At the worst point of the break, however, purchasing began on a wide scale. The buyers were led by a house that had previously sold for more than three days on a decline amounting to fully 2 1/2 a bushel.

One of the most exciting upward swings that the corn market has seen for weeks came on an astonishing sequel to former owners who had let go at low prices were underselling collectors. News developments outside of the market, however, but little of the most interesting advice were of a bearish nature, including a cut of 2 1/2 a bushel in New England railroad rates on Argentine corn inland from the seaboard.

Rains today in Kansas wiped out what strength there was based on overnight reports of insufficient moisture, and on lightness of receipts northwest. The late bulge in corn, though, brought renewed firmness to wheat.

Action of oats depended chiefly on corn. Most of the business was local. Selling attributed to packers gave the provision market about midday a downturn from which there was only a feeble reaction. Hog receipts were somewhat larger than expected.
